An important note about debit and credit card transactions:

Your credit or debit card will not be charged until your item(s) is shipped. Before your item(s) is shipped, your debit or credit card statement may show what looks like a deduction from your account. Please note, these funds have not been deducted but are being reserved by your credit card company within your account to ensure your order can be processed. This is known as an "authorization hold" and typically lasts from 3-7 days, depending upon the policy of your bank. Your credit card statement will reflect the vendor for your machine as The Print Group.
